

Mission and Purposes

The Mission and Purposes of Research College of Nursing reflect the contemporary focus on health and the importance of higher education for professional nursing. They are reviewed and evaluated regularly by the faculty as a part of curriculum development and are then submitted to the Governing Board for approval.

Mission

The mission of Research College of Nursing is to educate students as professional nurses who provide safe, quality health care. Through a commitment to excellence in nursing education, this academic community promotes development of the individual as a scholar and leader dedicated to providing service to the greater society.

Fulfilling this mission involves challenging students to use critical thinking and clinical reasoning to provide evidence-based practice. Interprofessional collaboration and communication are emphasized to facilitate patient-centered care. Competence is developed in using both information management and patient care technology. Ultimately, the College guides students to develop a global view of health that emphasizes ethical and culturally sensitive care.
